NO REASON Alone at at last, I'm finally free. If only I'd known how cool it could be. Without hope I was so helpless. Without reason I'm so useless. With nothing to fear. Nothing. Something to guide me. Something to hide away in. Something to ride. Fuck that ride I'm not so fucking weak. I'm too strong I'll face anything. Found your faith, now you must follow. Fuck your faith, now your mind is hollow. Release my hand, bow down to what you believe. Your eyes melt, as I see through your lies, because your faith is nothing but a barrier to reality. Is it real? Or, do you just want to believe?

FROM WITHIN Here it comes again, formed from within. It feeds on its self. My enemy is getting restless, and so am I. And I think I'm sorry, because it burns. My heart starts to sting, my eyes water. Breeding. Breaking. Nothing and no one matters to me right now. Your governemnt, your flag, your "GOD" just fade to background. A linear mind with thoughts it can't even store. If I was a gun I'd take my life, but what would I use it for? It starts to break and breed and makes me close my eyes. What will it take to finally regain my mind? I've always lived in fear of what I can't escape, my body starts to give up when my mind begins to take. My soul is left prisoner to the powers it can't restore. This evil will never die, therefore I'm tortured.

SHOW Fuck your show, your corporate breakthrough. You run for cover, there there are those who see you. I want to stay warm, but hard to you. You say you are the truth, but I can see through. They bash away, at the ones who fall asleep on the grounds you walk through. They love their earth much better than you. They're not so tough. We shall follow through. Fuck you! Take it back! No more cops and no more lies too. You won't find me higher than you. With friends and heads we shal break through. You think it's over? We'll show you. Forced me now to scream Fuck you! Think you're not the one to blame, then who? Thinking now there's nothing I can do. It's not over we shall follow through. We won't let you die, will bring it back, don't fade away, we've worked to hard for that.

RAIN It rolls in like the tide. I feel moved. Left there to die. The only thing I could think to do. I only want to get it away. I know it's not fair, but it's so true. Sometimes I want to undo everything I do. Will not climb the tree I grew scared to face the past I once knew. Thunder boom, rain wash away eerything I do. Pain undo, fear chase away everything I choose. Will find an end we will know soon. Will it ever die? Maybe, but the guilt will not die too. I only want to get away. Yeah, but it's not so easy. Soon you will see you can never be free.
