

WELLINGTON.

WELLINGTON

Preposterous Idiocy

Misused
Abused
Too much love for something that will
Not matter in the end
So simple and overlooked
Origin should not be judged
Stupid pride for something small
Stay away from the hatred that burns inside
The minds of the ignorant
A past ignored by all involved
How can it be denied?
Something that affected millions
Put out of the mind
No more shall those who perished
Be ignored!

Please

Live it up while you can
Sometime it will all end
Elitist. Keep your shit out of my face
Don't tell me what you believe it to be Recycled rubbish. Enough
I watch you clamber through a belief
For belonging
No more for me
I'm a believer that I'm the one
Who'll pull myself through
Not a falsehood that's been
Pounded into my head
Enough for me. No more
I'm full of the belief that
I'll pull myself through

Should've Known

Inspiration does not come easily
The thought of pushing on
Never seems like I'll pull through
But you help me to
All of my hopes and dreams
Reside in the beauty
Of your mind
Waiting for the perfect time to be unleashed
Slowly I strive
To reach the point of no return
Only to be turned back
To a point in time less critical
The light I once saw in your eyes
Is now diminished by your selfish thoughts
I bled for you only to be stitched up by
Your thoughts of another
